IFDA Announces 2011 Trailblazer Award Winner Joe Ruggiero

IFDA's Awards Committee is pleased to announce Joe Ruggiero as the recipient of the 2011 Trailblazer Award. Mr. Ruggiero, a renowned interior designer, television host, product spokesperson and magazine editor-in-chief will receive the 2011 Trailblazer Award at the Symposium Awards Dinner on Saturday, September 17, 2011. The Awards Dinner will be held in conjunction with the 2011 Symposium scheduled for September 15-17, 2011 at the Hotel Sofitel in Philadelphia, PA. For more information on Joe Ruggiero, please visit www.joeruggiero.com.

President's Message

by Janet Stevenson, IFDA President

Just a few updates for our membership as we move into the time of year that reminds us all that life is ever changing.

The Trailblazer Awards Committee just announced our 2011 Trailblazer Award winner, and I can't be more pleased! Joe Ruggiero, Designer - TV Host - Product Spokesperson - Magazine Editor-in-Chief – and more is a worthy recipient. His career touches almost every aspect of the world of home decorating. I can't wait to be able to present him with this very well-deserved award to be presented Saturday evening September 17th at the Symposium Awards Dinner.

The Symposium Committee continues to work hard for our members to bring a wonderful event in September that I hope you will take advantage of. Exciting speakers and topics, places to go, things to see and do! More information will be on its way in no time to all of you.

The Board of Directors and the Council of Presidents' new "buddy system" has successfully been launched! I heard from a number of the board and presidents that their contact has been a very positive one with some new friendships already started through those phone calls! Having someone to reach out to is always a good thing when you need advice or someone to talk through a situation with!

Our Board of Directors' New Chapter Outreach Committee chaired by Rand Kehler began the task of identifying hubs for possible new chapter creation. Cities with design centers might make for a strong, good location. If any of you have suggestions send a quick email to Rand at randjk@verizon.net.

IFDA Chapter Leaders Participate in Informational Webinar Series

by Jennifer Jones, IFDA Account Executive

IFDA chapter leaders participated in a series of informational webinars hosted by IFDA headquarters. The webinars held January 12, 13, 19, and 20, 2011 were developed to distribute information on a host of topics related to chapter operations including membership, finance, communications, and programs.

Chapter Presidents participated in a webinar that provided an overview of topics associated with their responsibilities as Chapter Presidents including a review of Association and Chapter Bylaws, utilizing www.box.net, membership management, IFDA logo usage, and an overview of the IFDA international sponsorship program. Florida Chapter President Thom Leffler commented that the Chapter Presidents' information session "was informative and most helpful." Invitees who could not participate in the January information sessions can access the session PowerPoint slides and Q & A's on www.box.net.

Taking EF Fund-Raising in Stride Chapters Step-Up Support For Design Education

by Rose Gilbert, FIFDA

Stepping out smartly in support of design education, 13 chapters raised a total of $29,000, netting $18,400 for grants and scholarships awarded by the IFDA Educational Foundation.

The 2010 Walk for Design Education project was supported by local businesses and by national partners that are bold-face names in the industry: Benjamin Moore, 3M, Hunter Douglas, Wood-Mode Cabinetry, E.J. Victor, Market Square at Highpoint and The International Home Furnishings Center, High Point, NC.

The chapters stepped out in creative style, reports the delighted EF Walk Chair Wilma Hammett. For example, the fundraiser was a walk in the park, literally, for New York Chapter members and friends, who strode the High Line Park, built on an abandoned railroad line above the City's West Side.

Members of the Texas Chapter brought their dogs along on the historic Campion Trails beside the Trinity River in Dallas. Philadelphia Chapter members ambled past masterpieces in the Picasso and the Avant-Garde show at the Philadelphia Museum of Art. The Carolinas Chapter participants strolled the streets around the High Point furniture market and visited the landmark building shaped like a giant chest with a pair of socks hanging out of one drawer in reference to the city's furniture and hosiery industries.

New England and Minnesota covered their respective cities' design centers and Northern California staged a wine tasting and book-signing with Nancy Castelli, author of Get Organized Today.

As the philanthropic arm of the IFDA, the Educational Foundation offers the most scholarships and grants of any organization in the furnishings industry. More than a dozen awards that total over $30,000 help to support design students, interior design programs, and professionals who want to broaden their education. In addition EF grants help restore America's historic sites, such as Eleanor Roosevelt's Val-Kill Cottage in Hyde Park, NY, and the Lee-Fendall House in Alexandria, VA.

"The Walks have made it possible for EF to increase the amounts of our scholarships and grants," Wilma Hammett, FIFDA, Walk chairperson reports. "That's especially important today when student's needs are greater than ever in this tough economy."

In Memoriam: IFDA Sharon Clancy Lienau

Cancer claimed the life of IFDA Sharon Clancy Lienau at age 67, just eight months after her husband Hank Lienau's brave and prayerful battle with cancer ended.

Sharon and Hank, her husband of 34 years, moved to Bluffton, SC from Chicago in 2008. Shortly after their move, Sharon received a life-saving organ transplant. Since her "second chance at life," both she and her husband were active in promoting organ donor awareness and Donate Life marketing and media activities. Sharon herself is now an organ donor.

A native New Yorker, Sharon spent her entire professional career in the practice of public relations. A Rosemont College graduate Sharon certified at Radcliffe College Graduate School of Business before joining the J. Walter Thompson Company in New York where she worked for over 10 years in corporate and product publicity executive capacities. She later became Director of Public Information for a Union Carbide company, before realizing her flair and passion for home furnishings and design.

She worked for Hayes Williams Public Relations in New York, then the nation's largest home furnishings PR agency. When her husband transferred from New York to Chicago in 1981, she continued to represent that agency in the Midwest. Later she formed her own public relations agency specializing in furnishings and design. Her accounts ranged from architects to art galleries, interior designers to furniture and fabric manufacturers.

Sharon was a Fellow of the International Furnishings & Design Association (IFDA). She served on its boards in the New York and Illinois Chapters, was its International Director of Marketing, and in 1997 was elected International President of the Association during its Golden Anniversary year. The following year she received the highest honor ever awarded to an IFDA member, the Honorary Recognition Award which afforded her lifetime membership in the association. She often reported that her most rewarding achievements in her career were in having assisted in the design, refurbishing and decorating of more than 60 Ronald McDonald Houses throughout the country, where her husband was a founding director and national coordinator.

In addition to heading up alumnae activities for Rosemont College in the New York and Chicago Chapters, she also was active in designing and donating furnishing for several women's shelters in the Chicago area.

She is survived by a brother John G. Clancy of Tequesta, FL., two step children, Mark W. Lienau of Canaan, VT, Jane Lienau Rowe of Bowdoinham, ME, five grandchildren, several godchildren, and dozens of loving cousins, nieces, nephews, great nieces, great nephews, and caring, wonderful friends.

A funeral mass was celebrated on January 29th at St. Gregory the Great Catholic Church in Bluffton, where she and her late husband were members. To honor her memory, contributions may be made to Cancer Awareness Foundation, 4375 Bluffton Parkway, Bluffton, SC 29910 or Hospice of the Low Country, PO Box 3827 Bluffton, SC 29910.

Ed.'s Note: The above is adapted from the article posted in the Savannah Morning News based on information submitted by her family. Various IFDA members submitted the information on Sharon who was greatly admired and will be fondly remembered by those in the IFDA family as well as her own.

In Memory of Harriet Schoenthal

By Maureen Klein, IFDA EF, Director of Communications

IFDA mourns the loss of IFDA NY member Harriet Schoenthal who passed away on February 22, 2011 in New York City. Harriet was an active member of IFDA for over 50 years and a faithful supporter of the IFDA Educational Foundation. She was president of Harriet Schoenthal Inc., a Manhattan based advertising, marketing and public relations firm, representing such clients as the Hardwood Manufacturers Association, Baldwin Piano, Hickory Chair, Swaim Furniture, and countless other high profile brands.

The New York Chapter will be holding a memorial program in the near future so friends, family and colleagues can come together and celebrate her life and many accomplishments and contributions. Anyone who would like to attend, speak or be part of the planning committee or has images/reminiscences they would like to share for the memorial, kindly contact the NY Chapter office: Rose Hittmeyer, ifdanyny@verizon.net, (212) 686-6020. Please watch for more details.

IFDA Northern California Makes its First Foray into “Dining by Design”

by Timothy D. Manning, IFDA Northern California VP Communications

At the San Francisco Design Center, November 18, 2010.

Still running fast and furious after September's Fall into Fabrics and October's Walk for Design, IFDA Northern California jumped feet first into Design Industries Foundation Fighting Aids (DIFFA)'s Dining by Design. With very little lead time, our IFDA team of designers created a themed dining experience to raise money for AIDS research through this DIFFA annual event.

Working with Baker Furniture and a list of other dedicated donors and volunteers, IFDA NCAL's designers Athena Charis, Lauren Shelby, and Diane Nicolson whipped up a Golden Age of Hollywood Deco Dream that shimmered in geometric silver, black, and gold.

Before we launch into the pictorial, our thanks to the team that helped to make the deco dream come true:

Athena Charis, Lauren Shelby, Diane Nicolson, Billie Huckaby, Jessica Quiroga, Marci Pelot, Trenton McLinn, Raffine Chocolates, Baker, Wroolie & Company, Napa Valley Linens, Floor Designs, Arthaus, Art Deco Collection, Twigs Studio, and yours truly, Timothy D. Manning.

Georgia Chapter Celebrates the 25th Anniversary of Angel Tree

by Sharron Zimmerman, Chapter President

For the past 25 years the Georgia Chapter of IFDA has joined forces with the Atlanta Decorative Arts Center to bring holiday joy by way of anonymous gifts to children in our community who would otherwise have none. The Angel Tree event is one of our most cherished traditions. This is the fifth year I've served as Chair of the event.

The gala was indeed a wonderful party. This year's host was the new Jordan Spencer showroom at ADAC. We felt right at home with the warm and welcoming staff, delicious refreshments, festive music, and comfortable Lorts furniture; all facilitating our chatting well into the evening. During the evening, members and guests selected their angels from the tree.

The week following Thanksgiving chapter volunteers beautifully wrapped gifts with angel tags returned to Jordan Spencer in clear plastic bags tied with festive bows. A sense of satisfaction and true holiday spirit was strongly felt by chapter members, showroom hosts, design center showroom and management staff, and honored guests who participated in this worthy event. The stretch of colorful bags of gifts along the glass front of the showroom was a clear indication that we are part of a larger community.

Early in November posters go up on every door in the design center inviting one and all to the gala. The familiar angel logo and border of snowflakes alert everyone to the fact that it is again "that time of year."

The week before Thanksgiving IFDA holds the kick off gala where the Angel Tree, a fully decorated Christmas tree is displayed, with tags hung for each child sponsored. Each angel tag has a child's name, age, gender, and wish list on the back. Department of Family and Children's Services provides us the names of children in need of sponsorship.

Santa and Sharron

Gifts ready for delivery

Then, the gifts went off to the DFACS warehouse where they were distributed to the case workers, then on to the families, and then to each child. And so "Santa" has come again.

Illinois Chapter

Rejuvenate You and Your Home with Feng Shui

The Illinois Chapter's January event held at the Merchandise Mart kicked off the year reflecting on our need for some daily personal inner peace to provide balance to our hectic lives. Joan Scheib - Illinois Chapter President, interior designer and Feng Shui consultant, gave us food for thought as we looked to our homes to help rejuvenate us. A simple place to focus is the clutter that affects a person's life. It creates confusion, lack of focus, and going in many directions at once. It's hard to focus on what to do or your priorities. Clutter pulls our energy down, making us feel overwhelmed, exhausted, confused, or depressed.

There are 4 types of clutter:

- Common clutter (junk mail, half finished projects, magazines)
- Symbolic clutter (gloomy art, unsuccessful projects, old clothes)
- Energy clutter (gifts from a past relationship, unwanted inherited furniture)
- Mental and emotional clutter (avoided tasks, draining relationships, appointments to schedule, friendships you need to let go)

Color can affect your energy, mood and emotions helping you make powerful choices to influence your life in a more positive way. Similarly, the colors you surround yourself with in your home must reflect you and what you need for an uplifting space. Colors can create: passion (red), happiness (pink), joy (orange), harmony and healing (green), inspiration (yellow), influence and luxury (gold), serenity (blue), peace (violet), warmth (brown), protection, elegance (black), and honesty (white).

Attendees enjoy Feng Shui event

A representation of clutter

In summary, find a favorite place in your home, fill it with accents that nourish you and bring good thoughts, memories and peace to you, and use this space frequently to help feed your soul.

Minnesota Chapter Wows Midwest Home Show Attendees

by Sheran Neumann

The Minneapolis Convention Center was teeming with activity at this year's November Midwest Home Show. The Minnesota Chapter of IFDA, a longtime fixture of the show, continued its 2010 "Designing with Taste" theme promoted earlier in the year by designing seven creative vignettes which transported the onlooker to different parts of the globe or to unique and imaginative dinner parties. These beyond-the-ordinary displays garnered IFDA the Most Inspirational of Show Award. Congratulations to all participants! Additionally, Tarry Logsdon of RBC Tile and Stone, was voted Favorite Display by show attendees. Tarry created a Spanish dinner party vignette that artistically included differently sized tiles as placemats, food items, and as condiments that graced her wood plank harvest table. Congratulations Tarry!

Thank you to all participants and IFDA volunteers. IFDA again publicly showcased the many talents of our members - truly inspirational!

Texas Chapter

IFDA Texas Chapter to be an Event Partner at the Dallas Design Center

by Laura Davis, AIA, IFDA Texas Chapter, VP Public Relations

IFDA Texas Chapter will participate as an Event Partner for Grow!, the 3rd Annual Dallas Design Center event taking place April 12-14, 2011. Texas IFDA members are pleased to be sponsoring featured speaker and IFDA Director at Large, Susan J. Slotkis.

Becky Pipka, Texas Chapter President commented: "We are so excited to have Susan joining us for Grow! She is an excellent speaker and a positive spokesperson for IFDA."

Susan is one of four special presenters and will share her .2 CEU IDCEC-approved presentation Connecting the Dots... Design Styles in Context. This is an informative and engaging presentation designed to help connect design styles to the context of history, culture, events, and meaning. Visual imagery and commentary highlight significant themes, details, and events from the past... from the antiquities to contemporary time. Modern interpretations from each period will inspire current projects.

The Dallas design community will enjoy an extra dose of inspiration as the Decorative Center Dallas and the Dallas Design Center will be holding two events, Grow! and Spring Thing concurrently. Over the course of the three days, designers will have the opportunity to explore resources, complete 8 hours of CEPH credits and connect with peers, industry leaders and inspiring ideas.

The IFDA Texas Chapter looks forward to the opportunity to increase exposure and education about IFDA to the visitors coming in for both events.

For more information on these events, please visit the Texas Chapter page on the IFDA website.

Washington DC Chapter

Evelyn Avery Hosts Barry Dixon for IFDA – DC

by Jeanne Blackburn

How could an evening combining fine art and interior design not be fascinating and fun for the members of IFDA's Washington, DC Chapter? Especially in the middle of winter.

Internationally known Washington area designer Barry Dixon was the guest of honor at a reception on January 12 at the home and gallery of Evelyn Avery of Avery Fine Art and Framing. Members of the Washington DC chapter and their guests were treated to the visually stunning, Dixon-designed penthouse whose balconies overlook nearly 360 degrees of the Washington skyline from above Georgetown. This extraordinary space also serves as the gallery for Evelyn's custom framing business which is located in Alexandria, Virginia. Besides dozens of pieces of priceless original art which occupy the space, important furnishings are from the Barry Dixon collection for J. Lambeth and the upholstery from his new collection for Vervain. Barry also directed the placement of all the art on all the walls.

Included in the tour of the Avery's home/gallery was a "guided tour" of the gallery room in the penthouse and a detailed explanation of her custom framing business which includes special finishes ranging from very contemporary burled wood to extremely ornate, hand-carved gold- and silver-leaf reproductions of European antiques. "We employ some very talented artists" Mrs. Avery commented understatedly about the craftsmen she hires to execute the custom designs and special orders. As a courtesy to the designers attending the event, those who wished to do so were able to purchase from her collection that evening.

The gathering which was planned and executed by the chapter's program chair Laura Fox of JANUS et Cie in Georgetown included an evening buffet and highlighted by Barry's comments to the guests about the value of collecting original art, the importance of framing it well, and of displaying it to best advantage. Later, he was available for private consultation and book signing of his Barry Dixon Interiors.

Jacqueline Passaro, Washington Chapter President remarked that "we are fortunate to have such incredible talent in our membership area," referring not only to Barry and Evelyn, but to the chapter members as well. It was a gathering that perhaps could only have happened in the Nation's Capital.
